The Remora foil mount is a brand new device that allows hydrofoils to be quickly and easily attached to existing kiteboards, stand up paddleboards, surfboards and windsurf boards.

The Remora product was developed from its prototype stage, through to the production volume supply in close partnership with the customer.

“It is amazing to find a local company with the commitment and technical skills to help us bring this innovative product to market.

Lamplas were responsive, quick and focused, the quality of the end product is second to none”.
